Pilot - Hybrid/Remote Work Policy Clinton Community College

1. Purpose and Scope      Effective Date: September 1, 2024

1.1 This Policy establishes guidelines for Hybrid/Remote Work for covered employees of Clinton Community College. The college recognizes that flexibility in determining where administrative work is performed can have a positive effect on employee retention and recruitment. The Hybrid/Remote Policy seeks to provide a clear framework to guide decision making at the College and unit level. There are several factors that influence the final classification of a job within the hybrid/remote framework, but job duties are the primary factor that should be considered. As detailed in the policy, Hybrid/Remote Work is first and foremost, subject to the college's operational needs, and as such is not a right or entitlement to employment. In keeping with the framework as outlined, Hybrid/Remote Work options can be modified or rescinded with appropriate notice (section 13.2). It should be noted that the employee's supervisor will continue to have the authority to require temporary changes to the work schedules of employees based on seasonal and other short-term operational needs. This policy cannot be grieved and there are no appeals process when Hybrid/Remote Work has been denied or rescinded. However, to ensure matters related to equity are considered, concerns may be raised to the Human Resources Director who, in consultation with the College, will review and respond to the employee. Hybrid or remote might not be appropriate for every position at the College. All remote work agreements will be made on a case-by-case basis and are heavily dependent on the design and nature of the position. Each position within our organization is governed by specific institutional norms that dictate the feasibility and extent of hybrid or remote work.

2. Types of Work Arrangements

2.1 The College recognizes four general types of remote work arrangements. An employee or a supervisor or a division coordinator can suggest remote work as a possible option.

· Occasional Remote Work

Not regularly scheduled and approved on a case-by-case basis, these requests are infrequent and not regularly scheduled. For example, an unplanned personal obligation or inclement weather could be reasons for making this ad hoc request.

· Regular Hybrid Working Arrangement

Regular hybrid working arrangements can be for a defined length of time. For example, in a regular hybrid arrangement, the employee will have access to a campus workspace which may be shared with others and/or may be in an open office environment. Employees working a hybrid schedule will routinely return to campus to conduct work related activities; hybrid working days should be no more than three (3) days per week. (A longer duration will be considered remote work). New hybrid arrangements must begin with a trial period of at least three months, and then may be adjusted or discontinued at-will or at any time at the request of either the employee or the College.

· Hybrid Work Arrangement during College Breaks

Many of our positions require in-person work during times when students are on campus. Employees in these positions must be accessible to our students during the academic year. However, there may be an opportunity to allow for a hybrid work option during college breaks or during the summer months.

· Remote Work

Remote work consists of working from home an average of 4 or 5 days per week. For the purpose of this policy, remote employees will be required to be available during College Business hours. Remote workers will not maintain a designated campus office or workspace, instead, remote workers will have a shared workspace based on availability.

Regardless of the type of working arrangement, all employees are expected to be available during college business hours for their respective departments. Working hours and location must be agreed upon with the employee's supervisor, communicated to co-workers and key constituents, and maintained consistently.

3. Eligibility

- 3.1 When evaluating a remote or hybrid work request, supervisors should consider the specific position requirements, the impact on the office or department team, the employee's performance, and whether the employee can effectively perform the duties of the position while away from campus.
- 4.1 A position's suitability for remote or hybrid work will be based on operational needs and the responsibilities and duties of the role. An eligible position is one in which most of the duties can be completed away from campus or provide a significant advantage for the College in being completed away from campus. There should be minimal bearing on others in the office or department or students from not having this position on campus. Positions that perform essential campus services will generally not be eligible for remote or hybrid work during the academic year.

5.1 An employee's readiness for remote or hybrid work should be considered. Some employees may be better prepared to meet the requirements of these arrangements. When evaluating a request, supervisors should consider the employee's performance in the workplace. Strong performance in the following areas could indicate an employee's readiness for remote work: ability to prioritize work and meet deadlines, effective time management, ability to accomplish duties with minimal supervision, effective communication with internal and external parties, strong organization, self-motivated, and a solid understanding of their role and expectations.

6.1 Requests to work remotely as a reasonable accommodation are handled through the accommodation request process. Employees should discuss these requests with the Office of Human Resources.

4. Request & Approval

For all non-teaching faculty, administrative and operational staff:

7.1 Upon reasonable notice, occasional remote work will be approved by the employee's supervisor. These periodic requests will be approved at the time of each individual occurrence. Employees should not assume being permitted to work remotely on one day or for a specific reason makes each similar occurrence approved.

8.1 Hybrid working arrangements (Year-round or only during breaks) must be approved by the employee's direct supervisor.

9.1 Remote work arrangements must be approved and signed by the employee's direct supervisor. A formal Remote Work Agreement must be signed before beginning working from home.

10.1 This policy does not override the required meetings, office hours, or other contractual obligations for non-teaching faculty as established in the Faculty Association contract.

For Teaching Faculty Only

4.4 This policy does not override the required meetings, office hours, or other contractual obligations as established in the Faculty Association contract for its members.

5.4 Any request for remote delivery of classes should be submitted for approval to the Division Coordinator and to the VPAA and must receive approval prior to notifying students.

6.4 Remote teaching (off-campus) is permissible exclusively for approved classes. This includes existing DL, HL, and Remote courses.

7.4 The Course Preference Form (Appendix F of the Faculty Association contract – attached) must receive VPAA approval via signature before teaching remotely. This is normally only submitted prior to the start of a term/session. A new form must be submitted and approved if circumstances change mid-term.

8.4 Faculty approved to teach remotely are still required to participate in the contractually required meetings and activities. If the remote employee cannot attend the in-person meeting and the meeting cannot be reasonably held via video to accommodate a remote employee, the employee will be required to submit an absence slip for the missed meeting per the requirements of the contract and past practice.

5. Employee Responsibilities

- 11.1 Hybrid or remote work does not change the terms or conditions of employment or required compliance with all college policies, procedures, and/or work rules. Employees must maintain the ability to communicate with parties both internal and external and attend meetings via conference call or video conference. The default setting for video meetings will be with camera on unless told otherwise. Incremental costs of working offsite are to be borne by the employee (i.e., home office set-up, internet access, telephone charges, technology, supplies, etc.).
- 12.1 Regular hybrid or remote work employees must take all precautions necessary to secure sensitive and confidential information, including student, volunteer, alumni, and donor records and information, etc., and prevent unauthorized access to college equipment and proprietary information.
- 13.1 Regular and hybrid remote workers must either arrange to forward their office phone to their cell phone or dedicated landline, set up the available technology to answer their phone via their computer (Webex) or respond to voicemails in a timely manner.

6. Technology Equipment & Support

- 14.1 Remote or hybrid work arrangements must not create additional costs for the College. The College will not supply the employee with computer equipment, telephone, or web access other than what the covered employee already has received for purposes of work. The college will not reimburse employees for the cost of technology and associated equipment (office supplies), phone equipment and/or other items, especially printers or monitors.
- 15.1 For IT Support, call the IT department and/or submit a helpdesk ticket. If the issue cannot be resolved by phone, then the employee must bring the device to Clinton Community College for repairs.
- 16.1 IT is not responsible for personal devices but may make discretionary best-effort attempts to assist campus members with their personal devices. IT is not responsible for applications that are outside of the standards that the department has set. IT staff may make discretionary, best-effort attempts to resolve issues outside of our scope of support, but the department does not guarantee problem resolution in these cases.
- 17.1 The employee must acknowledge that the performance of job duties at home may require the handling of confidential information, and that continued compliance with all applicable College policies is an essential requirement in this arrangement. The employee must agree to protect all College information from improper disclosure to, or access by, other persons, including other members of the employee's household. The employee must agree to take appropriate steps to ensure the security of all work-related materials, data and equipment during times they are not working. The employee must not disclose any College information to any individual unless such disclosure is required for the performance of the employee's job duties or permit any College information to be accessed by any individual who is not authorized to do so for the purpose of participating in the work being performed. As such, the employee must complete the Remote Work Agreement.

18.1 All proprietary information must be stored in a locked room, desk, or file cabinet when left unattended. Proprietary information must be disposed of following College guidelines or returned to a college facility for proper disposal or storage. All proprietary information must be returned to the College upon termination of employment.

19.1 Failure to comply with these requirements will be a basis for terminating the Remote/Hybrid Work Agreement as well as initiating corrective action, up to and including termination of employment.

7. Job Performance and Expectations

20.1 Expectations for timely completion of work to established standards, attendance and full participation at meetings, responsiveness to internal and external parties, and other performance criteria are the same for an on-campus and off-campus employee. Supervisors will apply the same performance standards to employees regardless of work location.

21.1 The College may, on occasion, require unplanned in-person attendance for meetings, training courses, or other events. These requests will override a regular remote work arrangement. Supervisors will discuss such instances with the employee and provide as much notice as possible.

22.1 Note: This policy does not override the required meetings, office hours, or other contractual obligations as established in the Faculty Association contract for its members.

23.1 The Alternate Work Site must be free from interruptions or distractions. Generally, remote or hybrid work is not permitted to be used as a substitute for any caregiving needs (e.g., care of a child or other family member or individual). The College recognizes that on rare occasions this may be necessary, for example, caring for a child too sick to go to school; however, this would be the exception and not the rule. Employees must agree to maintain arrangements for caregiving as appropriate during working hours spent in the Alternate Work Site.

8. Time Reporting

24.1 Non-exempt employees approved to work remotely or on a hybrid basis will be required to accurately record all hours worked. Non-exempt employees will be required to seek advanced approval for flex/comp time and hours worked in excess or outside of normal business hours.

9. Visitors to Alternate Work Site

25.1 Employees are not permitted to host colleagues, work visitors/associates or students at their Alternative Work Site.

10. Travel to Campus

26.1 Employees working a hybrid or remote schedule are not eligible for mileage reimbursement or compensation for travel time.

11. Return of Employer Property

27.1 The employee shall return the equipment, supplies and other property provided to the employee by the College within three days of the College's demand. Upon termination of employee's employment, the employee must deliver promptly to the College all equipment, supplies, documents, modems, telephones, facsimiles, office supplies, handbooks, reference materials, computerized information, hardware, and software on loan to the employee. If it is necessary for the College to resort to legal means to recover its property from employee, the employee must pay all legal costs and attorney's fees incurred by the College to do so.

12. Compensation and Benefits

28.1 Compensation and benefits are not affected by work-at-home arrangements.

13. Termination of a Remote or Hybrid Work Arrangement

29.1 All approved remote/hybrid work arrangements must be structured on a trial basis. Management is responsible for assessing the effectiveness of the remote work arrangement, through customer and staff/management feedback and performance monitoring, throughout the duration of the arrangement to determine if any adjustments are necessary, or if the arrangement should be terminated.

30.1 The continued availability of a remote/hybrid work arrangement should be reviewed every 3 months by management to determine if business needs are being met. If it is determined that the arrangement should be terminated, reasonable efforts may be made to provide 10 days of notice to accommodate commuting or other problems that may arise from such a change (unless terminating due to performance-related issues). The College reserves the right to terminate any remote/hybrid work arrangement at any time at its discretion.

14. Supervisor Responsibilities

- Monitor work performance, production, and deadline compliance on a regular basis.
- Establish expectations regarding availability, schedules, communication protocols, meeting attendance, and engagement with peers.
- Review the Remote Work Agreement every 3 months.

- Ensure the employee continues to adhere to all College expectations, policies, and procedures.
- Communicate any concerns about performance, availability, etc. and establish a specific plan of action for the employee.
- Contact Human Resources with questions and concerns.

15. Remote Work Agreement

31.1 All regular remote work arrangements require a Remote Work Agreement documented (see Appendix 1). The agreement sets expectations and should be reviewed every 3 months and updated as needed. This agreement does not imply a contract or guarantee employment for a specific period of time. Completed and approved agreements should be sent to the Human Resources Office, in person or by email to hr@clinton.edu.

16. Approval and Adoption

32.1 This Pilot Hybrid/Remote Work Policy is approved by Clinton Community College Board of Trustees and is effective as of September 1, 2024.
